INTRODUCTION

THE present volume of the Descriptive Catalogue of Sanskrit Manuscripts in the Adyar Library and Research Centre dealing with Stotra-s is Volume No. IV according to the scheme published in the first volume of the series. (See Vedic Volume, 1942, p. x.) The method of cataloguing adopted here is as prescribed by the Ministry of Education, Government of India, and followed in the preceding volume (Viśiṣṭādvaita and Other Vedānta-s, vol. X, 1966). In view of the large number of MSS. described in this volume it is divided for convenience into two parts: the first part comprising the description of MSS. in tabular columns and the second, the Appendix, containing the extracts from the MSS. The total number of MSS. described here is 3244, representing 1173 Stotra-s of which only about 480 are available in print.

For the material of this Descriptive Catalogue of Stotra-s, all the MSS. listed in the Stotra section of the two-volume Catalogue of the Sanskrit Manuscripts (1926, 1928) and the MSS. entered as Stotra in the Alphabetical Index (1944) of the Library were examined. It was found that some of the MSS. belonged to other sections and had already been described in the Descriptive Catalogues of Kāvya and Vedānta MSS.; for instance, the Kṛṣṇakarṇāmṛta, Pādukāsahasra, Lakṣmīsahasra, Śivagītimālikā, etc. are described in the Kāvya volume and several of the works of Śaṃkarācārya and Vallabhācārya are described in the Vedānta volumes. Some MSS. have to be relegated to the Mantra section (to be described later), as they properly belong to that section. Thus works like the -Kavaca-s, -Pañjara-s, -Hṛdaya-s, and -Mālāmantra-s and also the treatises on Bhakti (e.g. Nāmakaustubha, Bhaktirasāyana, Bhagavadbhaktinirṇaya, etc.) have been excluded from this volume. In many cases the title given in this Descriptive Catalogue is different from what is given in the earlier catalogues. A concordance is given at the end to enable readers to correlate the titles in earlier catalogues with the titles in this Descriptive Catalogue.

The following is the classified list of the sections showing the number of MSS. and titles in each section:

		No. of MSS.	No. of Titles.
1.	Gaṇapati-stotra-s ..	66	34
2.	Subrahmaṇya-stotra-s ..	49	22
3.	Devī-stotra-s ..	558	187
4.	Śiva-stotra-s ..	710	208
5.	Viṣṇu-stotra-s ..	1032	337
6.	Lakṣmī-stotra-s ..	126	46
7.	Garuḍa-stotra-s ..	24	5
8.	Hanumat-stotra-s ..	13	8
9.	Navagraha-stotra-s ..	127	38
10.	Nadī-tīrtha-stotra-s ..	56	24
11.	Gāyatrī-stotra-s ..	31	12
12.	Sarasvatī-stotra-s ..	29	18
13.	Ācārya-stotra-s ..	228	119
14.	Miscellaneous Stotra-s ..	108	75
15.	Jaina-stotra-s ..	87	40
		3244	1173

Manuscripts in each of these sections are further divided into two groups, first Praśaṃśā-stotra-s and then Nāma-stotra-s, entered in alphabetical order separately.

In giving the extracts from the MSS. in the Appendix, the following procedure has been adopted: In the case of the published Stotra-s, full details of the printed editions are given in the last column and no extract is given in the Appendix. Such works are marked with an asterisk both in the third column and the eleventh column. But wherever there is variation in the MSS. from the printed editions, i.e. variant readings, omission or addition of a verse or verses, different colophons, etc. such differences are noted in the last column and relevant extracts are given in the Appendix.

In the case of unpublished MSS., if copies are available in other public libraries and the 'beginning' and 'end' given in their descriptive catalogues are identical with those of our MSS., a reference is made to the MS. number of those descriptive catalogues; differences, if any, are noted. Such works are marked with a dagger (†) in the last column.

If there are several copies of the same work in the Library, all the details regarding printed editions or reference to other library catalogues are given at the first entry and other MSS. are described without any remarks, but if the MSS. in the subsequent entries vary in any way from the first entry, the differences are noted and extracts are given.

In the case of Purāṇic Stotra-s, such as those from the Mahābhārata, Rāmāyaṇa, Purāṇa-s, Māhātmya-s and Tantra-s, an attempt has been made to trace them to their sources, so far as possible. Thus all the Stotra-s from the Rāmāyaṇa, Bhāgavata, Adhyātmarāmāyaṇa and Viṣṇu-purāṇa and most of the Stotra-s from the Kāśīkhaṇḍa, Hālāsyamāhātmya, etc. have been traced to their original sources. The following Stotra-s described in this catalogue are identified in the Purāṇa-s, etc.: Nos. 707, 772, 778, 959, 1158, 1228, 1242, 1305, 1312, 1384, 1385, 1394, 1395, 1442, 1468, 1508, 1567, 1660, 1734, 1735, 1761, 1765, 1766, 1777, 1779, 1785, 1803, 2160, 2254, 2300,

In a few instances of very short Stotra-s, the whole work is given in the Appendix, since after the 'beginning' and 'end' are quoted only a very small portion remains. The number of such Stotra-s printed in extenso in this Catalogue is 17. (Nos. 68, 78, 116, 333, 810, 1278, 1670, 1926, 1961, 1964, 2010, 2072, 2506, 2507, 3072, 3084[2].)

Variation of Titles

One of the features of Stotra works is the great variation in their titles. The same Stotra appears under different titles in MSS. as well as in printed editions. Sometimes one and the same Stotra is printed twice under two different titles in the same collection of Stotra-s. (See Stotrārṇava, pp. 123 ff.: Aparādhastava, same as on pp. 153 ff.: Bhṛṅgīstava; see also Bṛhatstotramuktāhāra, vol. I, pp. 26 ff.: Upamanyukṛtaśivāṣṭaka, same as in vol. II, pp. 41 ff: Jayaśaṃkarastotra.)

Although some Stotra-s are traditionally known by more than one name (e.g. Abhītistava=Mahāpuruṣastava; Catuḥślokī=Kāntastotra; Candraśekharāṣṭaka=Mṛtyuṃjayastotra; Bhajagovinda=Mohamudgara=Carpaṭamañjarikā, etc.), far greater divergence of titles is found in MSS. and catalogues. The main cause for such variation of titles is the variety of motives in naming a Stotra. Usually Stotra-s are named: (i) after the deity to whom the prayer is addressed; (ii) after the author (or the first chanter or promulgator in the case of Purāṇic Stotra-s); (iii) by the initial word of the first verse or any other significant word, usually from the refrain; (iv) or by some special significance associated with the Stotra. Very often a Stotra is variously named on the basis of more than one of the above reasons. The following examples will make the point clear: The Śivastuti (791-807) from Padma-purāṇa (Uttarakhaṇḍa, ch. 236) chanted by Mārkaṇḍeya, and containing the name Candraśekhara in the refrain, is called Mārkaṇḍeyastotra, Candraśekharāṣṭaka and also Mṛtyuṃjayastotra, Mṛtyuṃjaya being a significant name of Śiva. The Śivastotra (1183-5) beginning with the word Jayaśaṃkara and attributed to Upamanyu, is known as Jayaśaṃkarastotra and Upamanyustotra. See also Aparādhastava = Agastyāṣṭaka = Agastīśvarāṣṭaka = Śivāṣṭaka = Pāhi-śaṃbhu-aṣṭaka (684-9). Similarly the Sūryaśataka by Mayūra is known as Mayūraśataka, and Rāmastotra-s spoken by Jaṭāyu, Dhruva, Prahlāda, Brahmā, Mahādeva, etc. are denominated after their names.

There are also instances where a Stotra is differently called by substituting synonymous words: A Subrahmaṇyaṣaṭka is called Ṣaṇmukhaṣaṭka and also Kumāraṣaṭka (see Nos. 73-5); the Umāmaheśvarastotra (739-47) is called Śivapārvatīstotra (743); the Sītārāmastotra (2061-71) is also known as Rāghavajānakī-stotra (2068). See also Rāmabhadramaṅgala = Sītāvallabhamaṅgala (1869). A Stotra with the refrain Govinda-dāmodara-mādhaveti is variously entitled as Govindāṣṭaka, Dāmodarāṣṭaka or Mādha-vāṣṭaka in different MSS. (see Nos. 1554-5).

A Lakṣmīstotra is significantly named as Kanakadhārāstava referring to the legendary incident of its composition. Titles like Arinigrahastotra (= Kārtavīryārjunastotra 3059) and Ṛṇamocana-stotra (= Aṅgārakastotra 2579) signify their efficacy.

Textual Variation

Another point to be noted here is the 'textual' variation of the Stotra-s. Although the titles of many of the Stotra-s (such as -pañcaka, -ṣaṭka, -aṣṭaka, -navaratnamālikā, -daśaka, etc.) indicate their extent, the actual number of verses found in the MSS. or printed editions is often different from what the titles signify: The well-known Dakṣiṇāmūrtyaṣṭaka contained more than eight verses even as commented on by Sureśvarācārya, Ānandagiri and Svayaṃprakāśayati. Some dhyāna-śloka-s or additional verses are freely included usually in the beginning or at the end. The addition of such verses results, in course of time, in the alteration of the original title, for instance the Kṛṣṇāṣṭaka becomes Kṛṣṇanavaratnamālikā (1492). See also Aparādhāṣṭaka=Aparādhadaśaka=Aparādhastotra (690-706) with greatly varying number of verses. Since there may be instances of omission of some verses (see Ambānavaratnamālikā (132) becoming Ambāṣṭaka or Devyaṣṭaka (133) with the omission of one verse), it is at times difficult to know which way the change is effected; e.g. Vakulābharaṇasaptaka, Parāṅkuśāṣṭaka and Vakulābharaṇadaśaka (2977-8), all three refer to the same Stotra containing seven, eight and ten verses respectively. In many Stotra-s the order of the verses is different in different MSS. and some verses are substituted by new ones. (See Nos. 120, 132, etc.)

Considering the above points, it is not surprising to see the same Stotra catalogued or printed under several titles; it is, however, of interest to note that a single Stotra of twelve verses from the Kāśīkhaṇḍa (ch. 8, vv. 99-110) of Skānda-purāṇa, chanted by Yama (Dharmarāja) and referring to Śiva and Viṣṇu together, is found under as many as eight titles in the manuscripts and catalogues: Trimūrtistuti, Dharmarājastotra, Yamastotra, Viṣṇuśivastotra, Viṣṇuśivāṣṭottaraśata, Hariharadaśaka, Hariharātmakastotra, Hariharāṣṭottaraśatanāmastotra. (See Nos. 2409-15.) Similarly a Stotra of five to eight verses on Raṅganātha at Srirangam appears under the titles: Kadāvāstotra (kadā vā is the beginning of two verses), Kastūrīpañcaka (kastūrī is the initial word of one of the verses), Muktakaślokapañcaka, Raṅganāthapañcaratna, Raṅganāthastotra, Raṅgarājastava, Viṣṇustotra, Śrīraṅgapañcaka and Śrīraṅgarājapañcaka. (See Nos. 1833-5 and NCC, vol. III, p. 139b.)

In this Descriptive Catalogue, all the manuscripts of a work, whatever may be the titles in the manuscripts or in earlier catalogues, are brought under one appropriate (or more popular) title and other alternate titles are shown either in the third column or in the eleventh column. But all the different titles can be found in the Index at the end where references are given to the main entry of the Catalogue. The titles not found in the Index are to be found in the Concordance.

Among the MSS. described in this Catalogue there is a large number of rare and unpublished Stotra-s. About one hundred of these, having literary merit or philosophical value, are being edited and will be published in two volumes. The following are some of the important and noteworthy MSS.:

Gaṇapati-stotra-s:

Gaṇeśastava (14), thirty-five verses on Ucchiṣṭagaṇapati, each verse beginning with one of the successive letters of the Ucchiṣṭagaṇapatimantra. This has been recently edited by V. Raghavan (see Malayamāruta, 1966, pp. 1-8) on the basis of this single MS.

Gaṇeśvarastotra (16-17) enumerates sixty-eight places, sacred to Gaṇapati and lists sixty-eight names of Gaṇapati under which he is worshipped in those places. There are two MSS. of this work, both in Sharada script.

Vighneśvaramānasika (22), in forty-four Vasantatilakā verses by Cidambarasūri who mentions the river Hemāvatī. Although this is not of great poetic merit, it indicates how the mind of a devotee imagines the God as enjoying all the offerings that the poet himself might enjoy in his own daily life. This kind of worship without any external objects (mānasapūjā) has been a favourite way of expression of Stotra-writers. There are a number of similar 'Mānasa' Stotra-s noticed in this volume. (See Nos. 13, 233-40, 290-3, 788, 1057-63, 1136-40, 1680, 1857, 1890-1, etc.)

Gaṇeśasahasranāmavyākhyā (52) is a valuable commentary by Bhāskararāya, the great Śākta and prolific writer of the 18th century. It has been published from the Nirnaya Sagar Press, Bombay.

Subrahmaṇya-stotra-s:

There are three Stotra-s on Subrahmaṇya connected with famous places of pilgrimage in the South: Daṇḍāyudhapāṇyaṣṭaka (72) on the God at Palani (in Madurai Dist.); Subrahmaṇyadhyāna (78) on the deity at Jayantīpuram (Tiruccendūr); and Subrahmaṇyabhujaṅga (80-3) on the God worshipped at Kukke Subrahmanya on the western side of the Western Ghats in the South Kanara District of Mysore State.

Devī-stotra-s:

Ambikātriśatī (144), also called Paramābharaṇa, consisting of 300 verses in Āryā metre by Gaṅgādharamakhin is a notable Stotra.

Āryāpañcadaśī (159), fifteen Āryā verses, each one of which begins with one of the letters of the Śrīvidyāmantra; Dharmāmbikāstava (247), sixteen verses in Śārdūlavikrīḍita metre (also beginning with the letters of the Śrīvidyāmantra), on the Goddess Dharmāmbikā at Tiruvaiyaru; Navākṣarīstotra (268), nine Āryā verses, the initial letter of each of which is from the Navākṣarīmantra; Rājarājeśvarīstava (351), sixteen verses in Śārdūlavikrīḍita metre; Śāntistava (381), thirty-eight Svāgatā verses; Ṣaṭtriṃśannavamallikāstava (413), thirty-six verses also in Śārdūlavikrīḍita; and Saṃvicchataka (488), one hundred verses in Mandākrāntā metre; all these seven Stotra-s exhibiting Tāntrik influence are by Tyāgarāja of Kāśyapa-gotra, belonging to Āndhra who mentions his Guru's name as Ānandanātha in the colophon of his works.

Tripurāstavarājabhāṣya (217) attributed to Śaṃkarācārya is a transcript of a MS. belonging to a priest in the Kāmākṣī temple at Tanjavur. This elaborate commentary reveals the author's intimate knowledge of Vedānta and the Tantra-s.

Two Durgāstotra-s (226-7), one in Śārdūlavikrīḍita and the other in Sragdharā, summarize the story of the Devīmāhātmya (Saptaśatī).

Devīstotra or Devīnavaratnamālikā (244), nine alliterative verses in Mattebha metre, is by Rāmacandrakavi. It is an imitation of Ambāṣṭaka (Ambānavaratnamālikā; see Nos. 132-5).

Bṛhadambāśataka (284), one hundred Āryā verses on the Goddess at Tirugokarṇam near Pudukkottai, has references to Vakulavana, Māṅkaṇatīrtha and Gokarṇeśvara (cf. No. 788). It also mentions the Goddess as being worshipped by one Raghunāthendra, which is evidently a reference to the King of Pudukkottai Raghunātha Toṇḍamān (A.D. 1730-69). (See Introduction to Bhaktimuktāvali of Gurupadashekhara, Pudukkottai, 1948.)

Mīnākṣīstavarāja (324) has fifty verses in Śārdūlavikrīḍita metre, of which the first eight are printed in the Śāṃkara-granthāvali and in many collections of Stotra-s and are ascribed to Śaṃkarācārya. It is difficult to ascertain whether the Stotra originally consisted of only eight verses, the rest of them being added by others later on, or whether only a part of the original fifty verses were available to the editors of the printed editions.

There are fifteen different Stotra-s (313-34) on the Goddess Mīnākṣī, of which only four are available in print.

On the Laghustava there are two unpublished commentaries, one by Siṃharāja (362-4) and the other by Somatilakasūri (366).

There are eleven commentaries on the Saundaryalaharī, some of which are unpublished. One of the commentaries (456) interprets the Stotra as being addressed to Viṣṇu also.

The MS. (451) of an anonymous commentary is dated Śaka 1407 (A.D. 1485). Another commentary by Ḍiṇḍimarāma is a rare work (see V. Raghavan, ALB., vol. 2, pt. 4, pp. 130-1).

Apart from the well-known commentary by Bhāskararāya on the Lalitāsahasranāma there are four other commentaries (647-53) which are all unpublished.

Śiva-stotra-s:

Kṣamāstotra (780) in fifty verses by Parameśvarayogin eulogizes the forbearance of God Śiva.

Gokarṇeśvaramānasikārādhanastava (788) in twenty-seven Āryā verses, also called Nakṣatramālikā is a rare Stotra on the God at Tirugokarṇam (cf. No. 284).

Tārāvalīstuti (835) by Veṅkaṭarāma is an interesting Stotra containing the names of the twenty-seven successive asterisms (nakṣatra-s) in twenty-seven verses and employing dvitīyākṣara-prāsa (alliteration of the second syllable of each pāda).

No. 901 is a rare commentary on the Dakṣiṇāmūrtistotra, the author being Ānandagiri, the reputed commentator on Śaṃkarācārya's works.

Besides Madhusūdanasarasvatī's well-known commentary on the Mahimnaḥstava there are six commentaries (1041-7), one of which is by Peddasūri, son of Cennabhaṭṭa (1045), and another (1047) seems to be rather old as the MS. is dated Saṃvat 1511 (A.D. 1455).

On the Mahimnaḥstava of Viṣṇu there is an elaborate commentary by Divākara; it is called Cidambaradīpikā and is available in two MSS. (1019-20).

Vedapādastavavyākhyā (1109) by Nṛsiṃha is a rare work. It is very elaborate and informative. The commentator relates in the beginning how Jaimini, the author of the Mīmāṃsāsūtra, came to compose this Stotra.

Śivapūjāstotra (1124-5, 3125-6) by Jñānaśiva with a commentary by the author himself (?) who was a resident of Golakīmaṭha, is properly a work on Śaiva Āgama notwithstanding its title.

There are over twenty-five different Stotra-s (1158-1200) under the title Śivastuti or Śivastotra, all but six being unpublished. Of these, one (1186) by Veṅkaṭasubbakavi in 108 Śārdūlavikrīḍita verses employing aṣṭākṣaraprāsa, in alphabetical order is a noteworthy poem on the God Praṇatārtihara of Tiruvaiyaru. This Stotra is also known as the Japyeśastotra. Another Śivastotra (1199) of seventeen verses in the Śikhariṇī metre is a lucid poem ascribed to Nīlakaṇṭhadīkṣita in the colophon; but the MS. is much mutilated and the Stotra cannot be fully restored.

Hālāsyanāthadaṇḍaka (1241) is an important Stotra in rhythmic prose in which the poet refers to one Muddurāma (Mutturāma) as the builder of the temple of Hālāsyanātha at Madurai.

Viṣṇu-stotra-s:

Kṛṣṇasaṃsmaraṇa (1467), also known as Kṛṣṇabhāvaśataka, by Bukkapaṭṭaṇam Veṅkaṭācārya is notable for its poetic value. (See V. Raghavan, 'Surapuram Chiefs and Some Sanskrit Writers Patronized by Them', Journal of the Andhra Historical Research Society, vol. 13, p. 17 and NCC, IV, p. 341b.)

Gopālaśataka (1549) by Raghunāthācārya (Aśoka) eulogizes the feats of Śrī Kṛṣṇa as described in the Bhāgavata.

Ghaṭikādrināthaśataka (1562), probably by a follower of Rāmānuja, is on the God Nṛsiṃha at Ghaṭikādri (Sholinghur) in North Arcot Dist.

Tattvārthasārāvali (3073) by Subrahmaṇya (Yogi), a long Stotra in 347 verses in different metres, is on the God Veṅkaṭeśvara in Tirupati.

Nakṣatramālikānāmāvali (1661) in twenty-seven verses may be noted, since it mentions the name of the Rāga in which the verses are to be sung.

Bhagavadvicāralalitāryā (1776) in fifty Āryā verses by Govindācārya, disciple of Kaulagi Vāsudevācārya, obviously a follower of Madhva, is a notable devotional poem composed in the Kali year 4945 (A.D. 1844).

Yadugirinārāyaṇastava (1812) is a poem in ninety-nine verses on the God Saṃpatkumāra at Melkote, near Mysore. This has been ascribed to Tirumalārya and published from Melkote with a commentary by Śiṅgarārya.

Rāmamattebha (1889) by Mahādevakavi summarizes the story of the Rāmāyaṇa in nine Mattebha verses.

Rāmaśataka (1897), in one hundred verses, reveals the influence of Tāntrik and Vedāntic doctrines.

Rāmastuti (1905), in forty-six verses, is divided into six sections in the order of the Kāṇḍa-s of the Rāmāyaṇa and the verses are introduced with the names of Vālmīki, Ahalyā, Agastya, Śabarī, etc. connected with the Rāmāyaṇa story.

No. 1906 is another Rāmastuti in twenty-eight verses, in which thirty-five significant names of Rāma are employed.

There are several Stotra-s under the title Rāmastotra or Rāmāṣṭaka (1907-18), most of which are unpublished.

Liṅgabhaṅgamuktiśatakavyākhyā (1945-6), an extensive and valuable commentary by Upaniṣad-brahmayogin, on a text which is by the author himself is a harmonious blending of Bhakti and Vedānta for which the author is well known. This work could have been included in the volume on Bhaktiśāstra or Vedānta, but is included here, since the text is a prayer to Śrī Rāma with the refrain: dadyāt . . . -vibhavāṃ muktiṃ sa rāmo 'dya me.

Nos. 3128 and 3129 are two anonymous commentaries on the popular verse śuklāmbaradhara . . ., one of which interprets it as applying to seven different deities.

Saptarṣistotra on Śrī Rāma (2054) with a learned commentary may be noted for its philosophical teachings.

Hariharatāratamyaśataka (2146) is a very interesting Stotra comparing the qualities of Viṣṇu and Śiva by describing their characteristic deeds in each verse. It points out the futility of considering one of them superior to the other by a significant refrain, ko vā tayor adhika ity anucintya vṛddhāḥ satyaṃ vadantu tam imaṃ vayam āśrayāmaḥ. There is another similar Stotra (3127) having the same refrain entitled Śivaviṣṇusamatvabodhakastotra.

Hastigirīśastava (2153) by Vīrarāghava Vedāntarāmānuja refers to certain discussions and conclusions made in the Śrībhāṣya and Sudarśanasūri's commentary thereon and also refers to Saccaritrarakṣā and other works of Viśiṣṭādvaita. It is on the God Varadarāja at Kanchipuram.

Viṣṇusahasranāmanirukti (2298) and Bhagavadguṇadarpaṇa (2351) are the interpretations of the Viṣṇusahasranāmastotra from the Dvaita and Viśiṣṭādvaita points of view by Vidyādhirājayati and Parāśarabhaṭṭa respectively, whereas Nos. 2299 and 2353 are metrical epitomes of Śaṃkarācārya's Bhāṣya on the same Stotra. No. 2355 is yet another gloss on the Stotra by Nīlakaṇṭha.

Lakṣmī-stotra-s:

Indirāśataka (2419) by Kṛṣṇakavi (Kuṭṭi) is unique, as it is composed without using the labial letters (u, p, ph, b, bh, m) and is therefore called Niroṣṭhya. The poem is very lucid and exhibits the poetic skill of the author.

Kamalātriśatī (2424) has 300 Āryā verses by Gaṅgādharamakhin; this is also called Paramābharaṇa, on the basis of the initial word of the Stotra.

Perundevīstotra (2443) is an incomplete MS. of a Stotra on the consort of God Varadarāja at Kanchipuram; complete MSS. of this work are available in the Madras Govt. Oriental MSS. Library (see also V. Raghavan, ALB, vol. 4, p. 17).

Lakṣmīstava (2453) is a fine poetical Stotra; on the basis of the similarity of language and style the author could be identified as Bukkapaṭṭaṇam Veṅkaṭācārya, the author of the other work in the codex.

Hanumat-stotra-s:

Hanumatprasādastotra (2568), in sixteen verses, is by Raṅganātha, author of the Kapisaṃdeśa. (See M. Krishnamachariar, History of Classical Sanskrit Literature, p. 368).

Hanumadaṣṭottaraśatanāma (2575) identifies Bhīma as an incarnation of Hanumān as is believed by Mādhva-s. The colophon attributes the Stotra to the Padma-purāṇa, but it could not be traced in the printed editions of that Purāṇa.

Navagraha-stotra-s:

There are three unpublished commentaries (2680-1, 2682, 2683-5) on the Sūryaśataka of Mayūra.

Sūryāryādvādaśaka (2690) is in twelve Āryā verses one of which is similar to the verse quoted by Sāyaṇa in his commentary on the Taittirīya-brāhmaṇa (II. 8. 7. 3). In the last verse of the Stotra it has been associated with Sāmba, the famous votary of the Sun God.

Nadī-stotra-s:

Dugdhāpagādaśaka (2742), on the river Palar which flows through North Arcot and Chingleput Districts, is a rare Stotra by a disciple of Vīrarāghavavedāntayati.

Gāyatrī-stotra-s:

Gāyatryaṣṭaka (2775), ascribed to Śaṃkarācārya in the colophon, is an unpublished Stotra.

Sarasvatī-stotra-s:

Vāgīśīstava (2802), in fourteen Āryā verses is very popular in Kerala; there is another copy of this work in the Visvabharati Collection of the Adyar Library (VB. 1014). (See also GD. 1147 C.)

Śāradātriśatī (2804) by Gaṅgādharamakhin is a hymn in 300 Āryā verses; this is also called Paramābharaṇa.

Ācārya-stotra-s:

Abdamālikā (2823) by Raṅgācārya of Chettalur is a eulogy on Vedāntadeśika in sixty verses, each containing one of the successive names of the sixty cyclic years. Among the more than thirty Stotra-s on Vedāntadeśika the following deserve notice: Vedāntadeśikadaṇḍaka-s (2998-3001), Vedāntadeśikadvādaśa-prāsāṣṭaka (3007), Vedāntadeśikanakṣatramālikā (3008), and Vedāntadeśikaviṃśatiratnamālikā (3015).

The several Guruparaṃparādhyānaśloka-s (2867-85) on the successive teachers of the Śrīvaiṣṇava faith record the order and some biographical details of those teachers.

Āmnāyastotra (2853) deals with the Maṭha-s founded by Śaṃkarācārya; and the names of religious heads of Sringeri Maṭha are listed in a MS. (3028), a recent transcript, the original of which is not known.

Īśānastuti (2855) by Ahobalapaṇḍita, Gurustava or Bhagavat-pādīyastotra (2889) by Vidyāśaṃkarācārya, Bhāṣyakārāṣṭaka (2928), and Śaṃkarācāryavijayakhaḍgadhārā by Śaṃkaradīkṣita in alliterative verses are noteworthy Stotra-s on Śaṃkarācārya.

Jainastotra-s:

Of the forty Jaina Stotra-s noticed here about ten are well known and available in print; only a few of the remaining Stotra-s are noticed in the Jinaratnakośa. Most of them seem to have originated in South Indian Jainism, e.g. Jinasuprabhāta (3181-5) and Caturviṃśatitīrthaṃkarasuprabhāta (3169-70) are on the model of Suprabhāta-stotra-s addressed to Hindu deities. MSS. of such Stotra-s are found only in the South. There are about half a dozen codexes in the Library which are collections of Jaina-stotra-s (MS. Nos. 74242, 74248, 74257, 74260, 74266, 74270, etc.).

The following MSS. of the Library contain mainly Stotra works: Nos. PM 80, PM 81, PM 644, PM 915, PM 2111, PM 2333, PM 2588, 67160, 67197, 67323, 67565, 67633, 67953, 68320, 68345, 69102, 69181, 69463, 69592, 69910, 70257, 70263, 70281, 70640, 70787, 70871, 70910, 71102, 71547, 71548, 71576, 72299, 72439, 72451, 73242, 73243, 73246, 73247, 73248, 73438, 73563, 73978, 74314, 75135, 75398, 76444.

On the Authors

Out of 1173 works described in this Catalogue, the authors of only about 450 Stotra-s are known, the remaining being either anonymous or Purāṇic. Unlike in the previous volumes of the Descriptive Catalogue, in this volume, the Index of authors gives the titles of works under each author for easy reference. Alternate titles of the Stotra-s are shown in square brackets to distinguish them from the actual titles. The number of authors listed in this Index is 216, but among them a distinction is to be made between the eponymous names and the other authors. To the former category belong the names like Agastya, Āśvalāyana, Upamanyu, Jaimini, Bharadvāja, Mārkaṇḍeya, Yājñavalkya, Vasiṣṭha, Vālmīki and Viśvāmitra. Many of the authors (e.g. Appayadīkṣita, Kālidāsa, Vedāntadeśika, Śaṃkarācārya) are too well known to require detailed discussion, but some differences with regard to the ascription of certain Stotra-s may be pointed out.

The Ambānavaratnamālikā (Nos. 132-4; beginning: ceṭī-bhavannikhila . . .) also known as Ambāṣṭaka is generally ascribed to Śaṃkarācārya (see Kāvyamālā, pt. 2, pp. 154 ff; BSM, I, p. 216 f.); but in two of the four MSS. in the Library it is attributed to Kālidāsa (see also BSR, II, pp. 616-19 where it is ascribed to Kālidāsa and entitled Devīpraṇavaślokīstuti). Similarly the Dakṣiṇāmūrtistotra (beginning: upāsakānāṃ yad upāsanīyam . . .) is ascribed to Śaṃkarabhāratīsvāmin (see No. 846).

The well-known Navaratnamālikā (beginning: oṃkāra-pañjaraśukīm . . .) generally attributed to Kālidāsa is ascribed to Śaṃkarācārya in three of the MSS. (see Nos. 261, 265, 267). The following are some of the Stotra-s of other authors which are attributed to Śaṃkarācārya in a few MSS. of the Library: The Candraśekharāṣṭaka of Mārkaṇḍeya (see No. 800); Dāridryadahanastotra of Vasiṣṭha (916-19), Lalitāstavaratna or Āryādviśatī of Durvāsas (see No. 370 in which the original reading: . . . kopanamunīndraiḥ of the last verse is altered into . . . śaṃkarācāryaiḥ).

In the two-volume catalogue of the Library, over one hundred Stotra works are listed under the name of Śaṃkarācārya. But about forty works from this section are described in the Descriptive Catalogue of Vedānta MSS. and many others are found to be alternate titles of some other Stotra-s. In this volume there are 135 titles under Śaṃkarācārya of which only seventy-five are real titles, the remaining sixty being alternate titles.

Among the twenty-three titles ascribed to Kālidāsa only twelve are actual works, the rest being alternate titles. The Mātṛkāpuṣpamālāstava is one of the five Stotra-s of his Pañcastavī according to some MSS., while some other MSS. substitute it by the Ghaṭastava; his Laghustuti is attributed to Laghubhaṭṭāraka in the commentaries and it is said that the name Laghubhaṭṭāraka refers to Kālidāsa.

All the thirty-two Stotra-s traditionally attributed to Vedāntadeśika are available in the Library, there being several copies of each. But many other Stotra-s entered under his name in the two-volume catalogue are found to be not by him: Kṛpāsāgarastava (by an anonymous author), Kṛṣṇāṣṭaka (beginning: vasudevasutaṃ devam), Kṣamāṣoḍaśī (by Vedācārya), Raṅganāthastotra and Rāmānujāṣṭaka are all attributed to Vedāntadeśika only because they are found in the codexes along with his works. The Lokācāryapañcāśat is probably a spurious work, though the colophon attributes it to him. His authorship of Kiṃgṛhanāthastuti and Divyadeśamaṅgalāśāsana is not supported by tradition, though in some printed editions they are attributed to him.

The Ādityastotraratna generally believed to be by the famous Appayadīkṣita (I) is ascribed to Abhinava-Appayadīkṣita in our Library MS. The MS. of the Nigrahāṣṭaka greatly varies from the printed edition and contains a significant colophon (dīkṣitavaryakṛta-durmatitāta-viṣayaka . . .) and the same MS. contains the colophon of his Jvarāṣṭaka as dīkṣitavaryakṛta-saṃnyāsi-viṣayaka . . .; neither of these colophons is found in printed editions. (See NCC, I, pp. 191, 198.) The Saṃbandhamūrtistotra is not by him but by Appayācārya (who died in 1901).

The Ātmārpaṇastuti, entered under the name of Nīlakaṇṭhadīkṣita in the two-volume catalogue, is the work of Appayadīkṣita; the Mukundamālā ascribed to him is not a Stotra but is identical with his Mukundavilāsa Kāvya (see D.C. of Kāvya MSS., No. 595); Śivatattvamālikā is a wrong entry for his Gurutattvamālikā (2864). This rare Stotra on Gīrvāṇendra has recently been published from Pondichery on the basis of this MS. (See Oeuvres poétiques de Nīlakaṇṭha Dīkṣita, Institut français d'Indologie, Pondichéry, 1967.) One Śivastotra (1199) in seventeen Śikhariṇī verses is found ascribed to Nīlakaṇṭhadīkṣita in the colophon. But it is actually identical with the Mānasollāsa of Appayadīkṣita.

All the Stotra-s of Rāmabhadradīkṣita noticed in this Catalogue are edited by Sri S. Subrahmanya Sastri in the Stavamaṇimālā (Sarasvati Vilasa Series 6, Tanjore, 1932). The MSS. in the Library contain many textual differences and additional verses (see No. 1923). The Rāmāyaṇasaṃgrahastotra, supposed to be his work (see S. Krishnaswamy Sastry, Introduction to the above edition, p. 4) and stated to be contained in the Adyar Library MS. XXX. A. 7 (see II, p. 193b; see also V. Raghavan, Śāhendravilāsa, Tanjore Saraswati Mahal Series 54, 1952, Introduction, p. 42) is not really by him. It is identical with the Saptarṣirāmāyaṇa (MT. 3988e) in which each verse is introduced with the name of one of the seven Ṛṣi-s; it is published under the title Saptaślokī-rāmāyaṇa ascribing it to Kālidāsa. (See at the end of Prasaṅgābharaṇa, Gopal Narain and Co., Bombay, no date.) The Adbhutasītārāmastotra entered as his in the two-volume catalogue (II, p. 188a) is the same as Sītārāmastotra (beginning: ayodhyāpuranetāraṃ . . .) attributed to Hanumān (see No. 2070). The main cause of confusion in both the above cases is the existence of other Stotra-s of Rāmabhadradīkṣita in the same codex.

For some of the Stotra-s ascribed to more than one author, see Nos. 27-8, 359-66, 698, 1003, 1085, 1092, 1441, 1456-7, 1463-4, 1536-9, 1560, 2505, 2583, 3016-17.

Information about some of the authors and their works is given below since some of them are not well known and about a few no information is available from any other source.

APPĀDĪKṢITA: His Lalitāsahasranāmārthaprakāśa (of which this is the only MS. known) is an abridgement of Bhāskararāya's elaborate commentary on the Lalitāsahasranāmastotra. He was the son of Kuppādīkṣita and was in some way related to Appayadīkṣita (see the verse quoted on p. 125 of the Appendix). He gives another name of his Narasiṃhānandanātha, as given by his teachers. He refers to the Varivasyārahasya, and the Gaṇeśasahasranāmavyākhyā of Bhāskararāya and several other works also quoted in Bhāskararāya's commentary.

ĀNANDAGIRI: Two hitherto unpublished commentaries of this reputed author, one on the Dakṣiṇāmūrtyaṣṭaka (901) and the other on the Haristuti (Harimīḍestotra) (2135) are noticed in this catalogue. MSS. of the latter work are available in other libraries; but of the former no other MS. is known (see NCC, II, pp. 100-1).

KALYĀṆADEVĪ: She was the sister of Trivikramapaṇḍitācārya (A.D. 1258-1330) and is said to have remained unmarried. The Laghuvāyustuti (3104) is traditionally ascribed to her. (See B. N. K. Sharma, A History of the Dvaita School of Vedānta and Its Literature, vol. I, p. 280.) But in the printed edition of this Stotra (Stotramahodadhi, pp. 249-50) the name is given as Kalyāṇadeva. If the tradition ascribing the Stotra to her is correct, this is the sole case of a Stotra by a woman author found in the Library. In the Stotramañjarī (p. 473) her name is given as Kalyāṇīdevī which seems to be more appropriate.

GAṄGĀDHARAMAKHIN: He is the author of the Ambikātriśatī (144), Kamalātriśatī (2424) and Śāradātriśatī (2804); each of these Stotra-s is in 300 Āryā verses and all the three begin with the word paramābharaṇam; hence they are also called Paramābharaṇa on the title page of the MS. Nowhere in the MS. is there any hint to identify our author with any of the known authors of that name. He may be a recent author, as the MS. is a new transcript (made in 1932) the original of which is not known.

GAṆAPATIŚĀSTRIN: Four Stotra-s of this author are described in this volume: Gururājasaptati (2888), Śivāryādaśaka (1217), Śivāṣṭaka (1218) and Sarasvatyaṣṭaka (2814-15). All these works are found in one paper MS. (No. PM 255) which also contains some other works of the author. The MS. is in notebook form and much damaged. There is a series of letters in the MS. written in Sanskrit from the place Konnerirājapuram (a well-known village in Tanjavur Dist.) which are addressed to the author's teacher and friends. The letters bear different dates of the year Manmatha (letter No. 1: Konerirājapuram—manmathasaṃvatsarakaṭakamāse pañcadaśadivase likhitam), and on folio 24b there occurs the English date 23-9-1895. His Turagaśataka was written in the Kali year 4996 (A. D. 1895):

catuḥsāhasre ṣaṇṇavatinavaśatyā ca sahite (printed wrongly in the D.C. of Kāvya MSS. No. 519). The author was a reputed scholar known as Paiṅṅanāḍu Gaṇapati-śāstrin. He was a pupil of Mm. Rājuśāstrin alias Tyāgarājamakhin of Appayadīkṣita's line and of Mannargudi; he lived between 1871-1913.

JÑĀNAŚIVA: He is the author of the Śivapūjāstotra (1124-5, 3125-6) and was a resident of Golakīmaṭha. The commentator on this work (who is supposed to be the author himself) describes him as having written a work called the Jñānaratnāvali in 7000 Grantha-s after consulting the canonical texts of the Āgama (i.e. Vātūla, Dviśatīkālottara, etc.). He refers to Trilocanaśiva, author of Siddhāntasārāvali, as his grandfather's grandfather (evam eva asmatpitāmahasya pitāmahena siddhāntasārāvalīkṛtā trilocanaśivena; comm. on verse 8). Many Śaivāgama works such as Pauṣkara, Mṛgendra, Prāsādaparamākṣaranirṇaya (fo. 8), Jñānaratnāvali (fo. 1, 4) and Śivatantrarahasyasāra are quoted in the commentary.

GOVINDĀCĀRYA: The author of the Viraktimuktāvali (3122) belonged to the 'Uṭake' family and was the second of the three sons of Raṅgācārya and Sarasvatī whom he mentions both in the beginning and the end of the work. He was a resident of Tanjavur (Tañjāpurī). He pays obeisance to Kaulagi Raghunāthācārya in the beginning and to his Guru, Kaulagi Vāsudevācārya at the end. The Stotra was composed in Grīṣma—Dundubhi, Kali year 4963 (A.D. 1862). This Govindācārya may be identical with the author of the Bhagavadvicāralalitāryā (1776) whose teacher's name also was Kaulagi Vāsudevācārya. But in the latter work neither the family name 'Uṭake' nor his parent's names are mentioned. He was residing in Cera(-Kerala) region when he wrote this work in Kali year 4945 (A.D. 1844). If these two authors are identical the former work must have been written in the later years of his life since it gives expression to the worries and difficulties of old age. According to the verse found after the colophon of the Viraktimuktāvali the author died in the year Rudhirodgāri, seventh day of Caitra Śukla, i.e. one year after the completion of the work. There is a Nāṭyaśāstrasaṃgraha compiled by one Uṭake Govindācārya. (See Tanjore Saraswati Mahal Series 52, 1933.)

TYĀGARĀJA: Eight Stotra-s (Śivamīḍestavaratna and seven others on Devī, see above page xviii) and three Vedānta works (see D. C. of Vedānta MSS., Nos. 770-1, 872, 1305 and 1360) of this author are available in a single paper MS. (No. PM 644) of the Library. According to the colophons of his works he was born in the Kāśyapa-gotra and belonged to Āndhra. His teacher's name was Ānandanātha. Nothing more is known of him. Except the Upadeśaśikhāmaṇi (an imitation of Bhajagovindastotra, edited by V. Raghavan and published in the Malayamāruta, vol. I, pp. 25-7) and the Śivamīḍestavaratna (printed in the Śaṃkaragurukulapatrikā, vol. 5 (no. 17), pp. 50-1) all other works are unpublished.

NṚSIṂHA: He is the author of the commentary on the Vedapādastava (1109) of Jaimini. His father's name was Viśvapati, son of Kṛṣṇayajvan and grandson of Rāma of the Śrīvatsagotra. Viśvapati had a younger brother named Rāmeśa. The family name seems to be 'Kundavara' but the portion containing the letters 'kunda' is partly worm-eaten in the MS. He strongly criticizes one Sūryabhaṭṭa (fo. 6; also spelt as Sūrubhaṭṭa on fos. 26, 29, 30, 33, etc.). He says in the commentary that the Stotra was composed by Jaimini, the author of the Mīmāṃsāsūtra as an atonement for denying the existence of God in his Sūtra-s. He further says that the Stotra was incorporated in the Bhaviṣyottarakhaṇḍa of the Skāndapurāṇa by Vedavyāsa since he found it to contain the very essence of all the Veda-s. The commentary, of which this seems to be the only MS. known, is very informative and learned; but it is incomplete extending only up to verse 64.

PARAMEŚVARAYOGIN: Apart from the Kṣamāstotra (780), four more works of this author, namely the Nijatattvāmṛtarasa, Śāradātilaka (-yogarahasya), Siddhasiddhāntapaddhati and Sṛṣṭitattvāmṛta—are available in the Library; all these works are in a single codex. He variously calls himself Parameśvara (last verse of Siddhasiddhāntapaddhati), Parameśvarayogīndra (last verse of Śāradātilaka -yogarahasya and in the two colophons of Sṛṣṭitattvāmṛta) and Parameśvara Kavi Rājayogin (last verse of Nijatattvāmṛtarasa). The subject matter of all the above works is a blending of Yoga-Bhakti-Vedānta. Two more Stotra-s (14, 2890), available in the same codex, seem to be by this author, since the theme, style and language are similar, though the author's name is not mentioned in those Stotra-s.

RAṄGANĀTHA (BHAIROJĪ): The author of the Hanumatprasādastotra (2568) was the son of Raghunāthatātācārya and a descendant of Tātadeśika (Lakṣmīkumāra, Koṭikanyādānam) of Kanchipuram. He is a very recent author; according to the information available in the Introduction of his Pikasaṃdeśa (V.V. Press, Srirangam, 1918) he was still very young in 1918. He gives some details of his ancestry in the beginning of the Pikasaṃdeśa.

RĀGHAVAKAVI: The author of the Lakṣmīstotra (2454) was a resident of Bhūsārapuram (Tirumalisai near Poonamalli, Madras) and belonged to the Vādhūla-gotra. He mentions his grandfather's name as Raghuvarācārya but his father's name is not mentioned. Several works of another Rāghavācārya (also known as Vīrarāghavācārya) belonging to the same place and family are noted in this Catalogue (see Index). He was the son of Narasiṃha-guru and is identical with the commentator on the Uttararāmacarita (author of the Malayajāpariṇaya, see D. C. of Kāvya MSS., No. 1438). He is said to have lived in the 18th century. (See D.C. of Viśiṣṭādvaita and Other Vedānta MSS., p. 280.) Our author may be identical with him.

VEṄKAṬASUBBAKAVI: His Śivastotra (1186) in 108 Śārdūla-vikrīḍita verses is a eulogy on the God Praṇatārtihara or Pañcāpageśa at Tiruvaiyaru (Pañcanadakṣetra). This Stotra is found to be identical with the Japyeśastotra (Oriental Research Institute, Mysore, MS. No. 2768), Japyeśa being another name of that God. The Mysore MS., in palm-leaf, is a revised version of the text found in our MS. Some verbal changes, striking off original readings, are made in that MS. and a few verses are substituted by new ones. This Veṅkaṭasubbakavi may be the same as the author of the Saptasthānacampū (see D.C. of Kāvya MSS., No. 1011) connected with the above-mentioned place. On the basis of the similarity of the diction the Saptasthānacūrṇikā (3134) on the same God Pañcāpageśa, also may be inferred to be by this author.

ŚIVARĀMA: In his Rāmacandramānasika (1857) he mentions his teacher's name as Rāmacandra (-paramahaṃsa) but gives no more details. The style, language and theme of the Stotra are similar to those of Upaniṣad-brahma-yogin. Over a dozen other works found in the same codex are also by Upaniṣad-brahmayogin whose name before saṃnyāsa was Śivarāma. The two may not be identical since their teachers are different, yet they might have been related to each other in some way.

Some of the rare and important Stotra-s, preserved in the Adyar Library and described in this Catalogue, will soon be published in the Adyar Library Series under the title Stotrasamuccaya. Some of the very short Stotra-s have been printed in full in this Catalogue itself in the Appendix. There will still remain quite a number of unpublished Stotra-s, especially Ācārya-stotra-s which are not included in the above collection. And there are several commentaries on important Stotra-s worth publishing.

Stotra-s form one of the most popular branches of Sanskrit literature. From the time of the Ṛgvedic hymns down to the present day there has been a continuous flow of devotional literature throughout India; and it is in this field that Sanskrit has really been a living language; the popularity of the Sanskrit Stotra literature is evident from the large number of Stotra collections available. The Adyar Library can be proud of possessing one of the richest collections of Stotra MSS., and the publication of this Descriptive Catalogue will, it is hoped, be of great interest to scholars and devotees alike.

It is my pleasant duty to acknowledge my indebtedness to Dr. V. Raghavan who has encouraged and guided me with his valuable advice in preparing this Catalogue. I am also grateful to Dr. K. Kunjunni Raja for the keen interest he has taken in my work and for the useful suggestions he has made at every stage.
